Violinist Marteau Doesn't Play Ob-

Any Longer in "Panjandrum."

ligates-Theatrical Gossip.

Miss Fox Is Not Being Featured

Della Fox doesn't figure as prominently in De Wolf Hopper's "Panjandrum" advertising this season, a Buffalo reporter has discovered, as she did in seasons gone by. The reason given is that Miss Fox is going to star next year with her own comic opera company, and Mr. Hopper doesn't wish to contribute anything towards the preliminary booming of her venture. Another young lady, Grace Golden, of "Fencing Master" fame, is getting all the featuring, while poor delightful little Della is smothered with neglect. Della sees, however, that De Wolf doesn't obliterate her entirely, for she has a big frame of photographs which she carries around and gets into the theatre lobuy ahead of his advance agent. The photos are all pictures of herself in a variety of poses, and the inscription, "Della Fox Comic Opera Organization," shows boldly above the frame. Otherwise everything seems to be serene with the has discovered, as she did in seasons gone

M. B. Curtis, wht revives "Sam'i of Posen" at the Standard Theatre tonight, where, by the way, the curtain will hereafter go up at $15 o'clock instead of $.30 as it did during the long run of "Charley's Aunt," owns a hotel in Texas which he is trying to sell. Several purchasers are after it, and last week he was very busy trying to get several purchasers are after it, and last week he was very busy trying to get some of them to go to Texas to see the property, "because," as he explained, "there's a big convention of doctors in session there now—over 1,200 of them, I believe—and I'd like the parties to see the big business that the hotel is do-ing."

The last time Mme. Scalchi was in Pittsburg a girl called to sing for her.
She was "crazy to go on the opera stage," and wanted "some points about studying abroad." She had a little more voice than a parrot, and Scalchi advised her to go to Boston instead of Paris, offering her a card to a famous professor. The next day brought a pert letter from the young person. However, she went to the Hub and began a course of $5 aplece lessons. Last week a letter came from the old musician, mildly abusing her for advising such people to study. He could do nothing with her protege, who had no talent and no more chance of public success than a little brown sparrow.

Miss Maud Banks is a slender young woman, of medium height, 120 pounds weight and colossal pluck. According to her own statement, she isn't afraid of anything or anybody in this section of the globe. During the season it doesn't bother her in the least to go to the theatre alone and go home at midnight alone. Like all members of the company, the has her night off, and if there is a play in town that she wants to see she prefers to be alone to enjoy it, and study the players without interruption. With all her independence Miss Barks is in ow way aggressive. When a man in the street car reads his paper wide open, or allows his cibows to encroach upon her 'ibs she quietly gets up so as not to interfere with the gentleman's comfort.

Mr. John Coates, of D'Oyly Carte's "Utopla" company, who has won such admiration for his excellent impersonation of the principal baritone role at the Broadway Theatre, comes of an old and renowned musical Yorkshire family, and at an early age displayed the hereditary enthusiasm for the art. As a boy he was considered the finest treble in the north of England, being the leading boy of a renowned choir there for many years. He has sung before a large number of the English nobility, and has the entree to the most fashionable London "At Homes."
